Share-out:	Licette Garbe - 2020 Census Team <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Pacific County did pass their 2010 self response rate of 39.1%. As of today, the self response rate is 40.5% with 28 days to continue self response. There is still a ways to go, but exceeding the 2010 number is a positive milestone - For each person who doesn't respond, that equates to $2,000 per year in lost funding - Homeless Count Scheduled for Sept 22-24 One of the final operations for the 2020 Census will be counting homeless people from Sept. 22-24. Specially trained census workers will count people at shelters, soup kitchens, and mobile food van stops as well as people who are living outside. The count of people living outside will be the night of Sept. 23 and during the day of Sept. 24. Census workers will interview anyone willing to respond and use a headcount for anyone unwilling. Data Collection Deadline is Sept 30 To meet its statutory deadline to deliver the results of the 2020 Census by Dec. 31, 2020, the Census Bureau will complete the data collection phase of the census on Sept. 30. At that time, all field data collection operations will cease, and the online questionnaire and call centers will shut down. - Non-Response Follow-Up Underway <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • NEW NRFU Social Media Guide. Help spread the word about non-response follow-up in your community with this helpful NRFU Social Media Guide. NRFU operations – where census workers go door-to-door to collect information from households that have not self-responded – are underway across the state.	A great way for us to all get involved is by sharing the Census materials on our social media pages. Check out their website to see their free content! https://2020census.gov/en/partners/outreach-materials.html

	<ul style="list-style-type: none">- Census workers will wear face masks and follow CDC and local health guidelines while going door-to-door. All workers will complete a virtual COVID-19 training program before beginning their work.- What to Expect Census workers, who are hired from the local community, will visit non-responding households and interview residents to collect census information. All census workers speak English, and many are bilingual. If a census worker does not speak a householder's language, they will have materials to help identify the correct language and assist the person to answer the census. If no one is home during the visit, the census worker will leave a notice on the door with information about how to respond online, by phone or by mail.- How To Identify Workers Census workers will have a valid government ID with their photograph, a U.S. Department of Commerce watermark and an expiration date on the badge. They will also have a census bag and an iPad or mobile phone with them.- Anyone wishing to confirm a census worker's identity can call the Los Angeles Regional Census Office at 213.314.6500.

Monthly Reports - Big Brothers, Big Sisters	Big Brothers Big Sisters in South County needs a new home. The school has previously, very generously, provided a location for our office, but with COVID restrictions they are needing more space so that students can be spread out when they eventually return. We are looking for an organization or business that would be able to provide us with a small space that we could work out of. We would have a maximum of two employees in the space at one time, both thoroughly back-ground checked	For more information on becoming a Big in our community, contact Molly McManus at molly@swwabigs.org. and with lots of safety precautions in place (happy to provide more details on this). We would need some privacy as we will have some volunteers and families coming in (again with all safety precautions in place). We will provide everything we need (wifi etc), we just need the space. We are open to locations anywhere from surfside to chinook to Naselle. Ideally this space will be free or low-rent as we are a non-profit.
